

The horsehair seat has a large cutout that makes it difficult to see how the Headrest post is attached.

I'm not sure if these posts run on the inside of seat back springs or behind them. When I put the rails directly against the seat back, the Headrest position seems too far back the the headrest ends up partially behind the seat.

See last image...

1/4" Aluminum bar
across front of frame.
Headrest support
shimmed out in front
and clipped in back?

--OR--

1/4" Aluminum bar
across back of frame.
Headrest support tight
too seat frame and
clipped in back?

Support bottom
riveted or screwed
at frame bottom?

